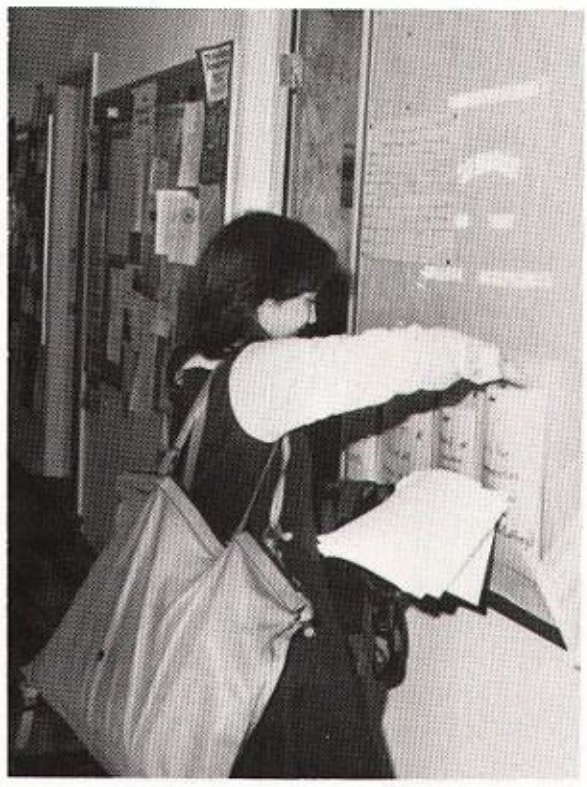
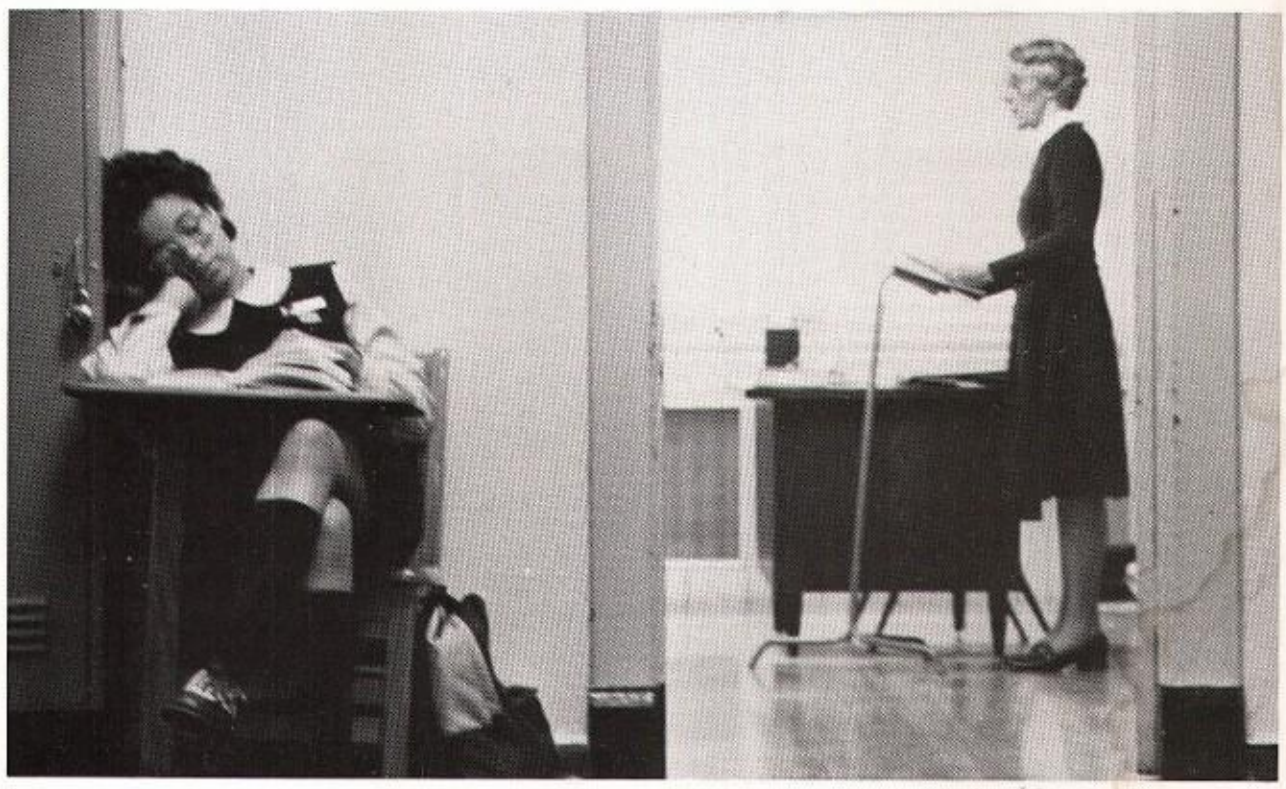
Within the school many factors contribute to building our success. The foundation begins with our parents and then is strengthened by faculty and friends. Not only persons, but also many events such as classes, liturgies, Hallahan Day, proms, and assemblies add to our memories and growth. In order to maintain the structure, each person, place and event is recognized, valued and encouraged to contribute.





Each person, place and event becomes an important piece of the structure

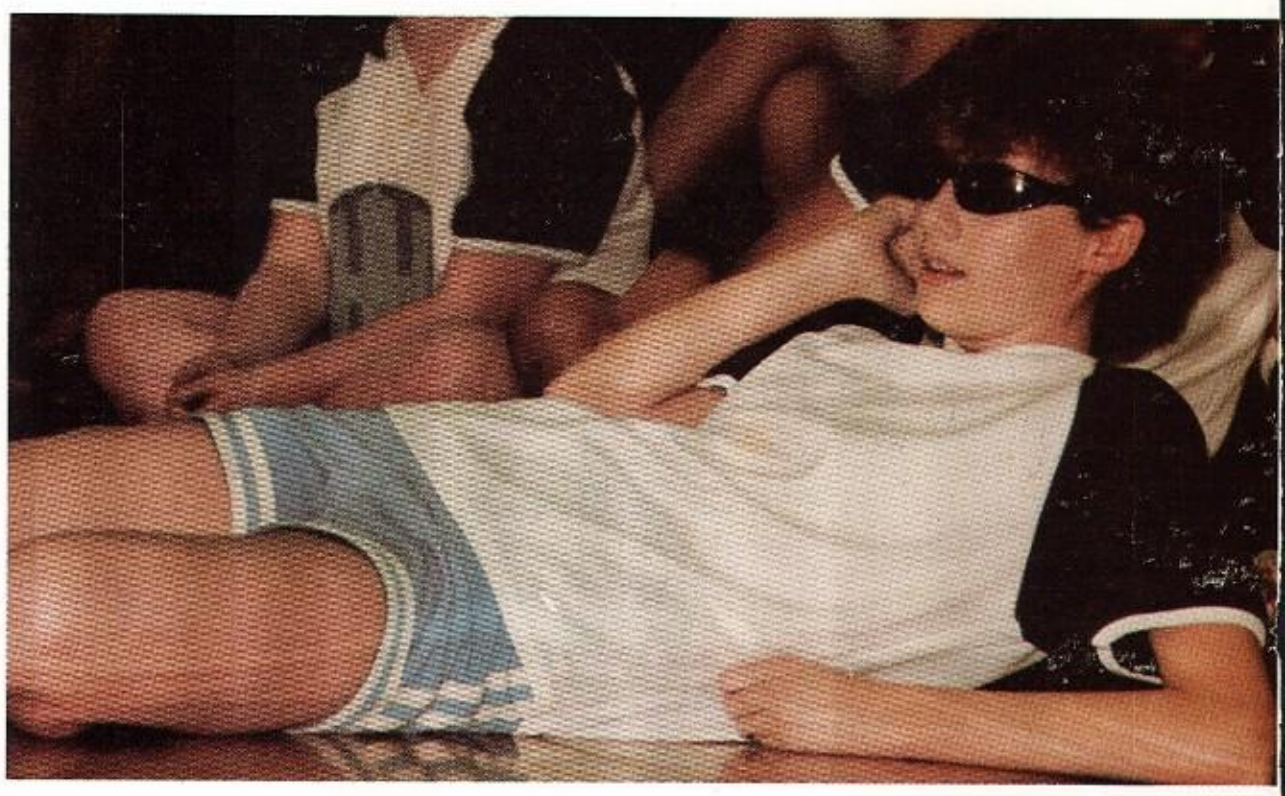
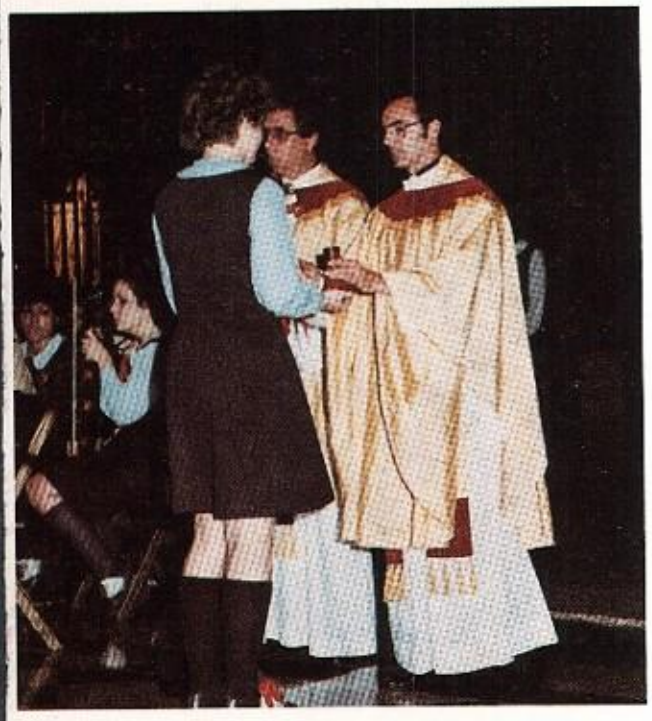
The coming together of each person, place and event at Hallahan is what makes the structure, not in a physical sense but in a bonding sense, more vital and lasting. Through this bonding learning grows, skills develop, friendship and relationships build and beauty flourishes.

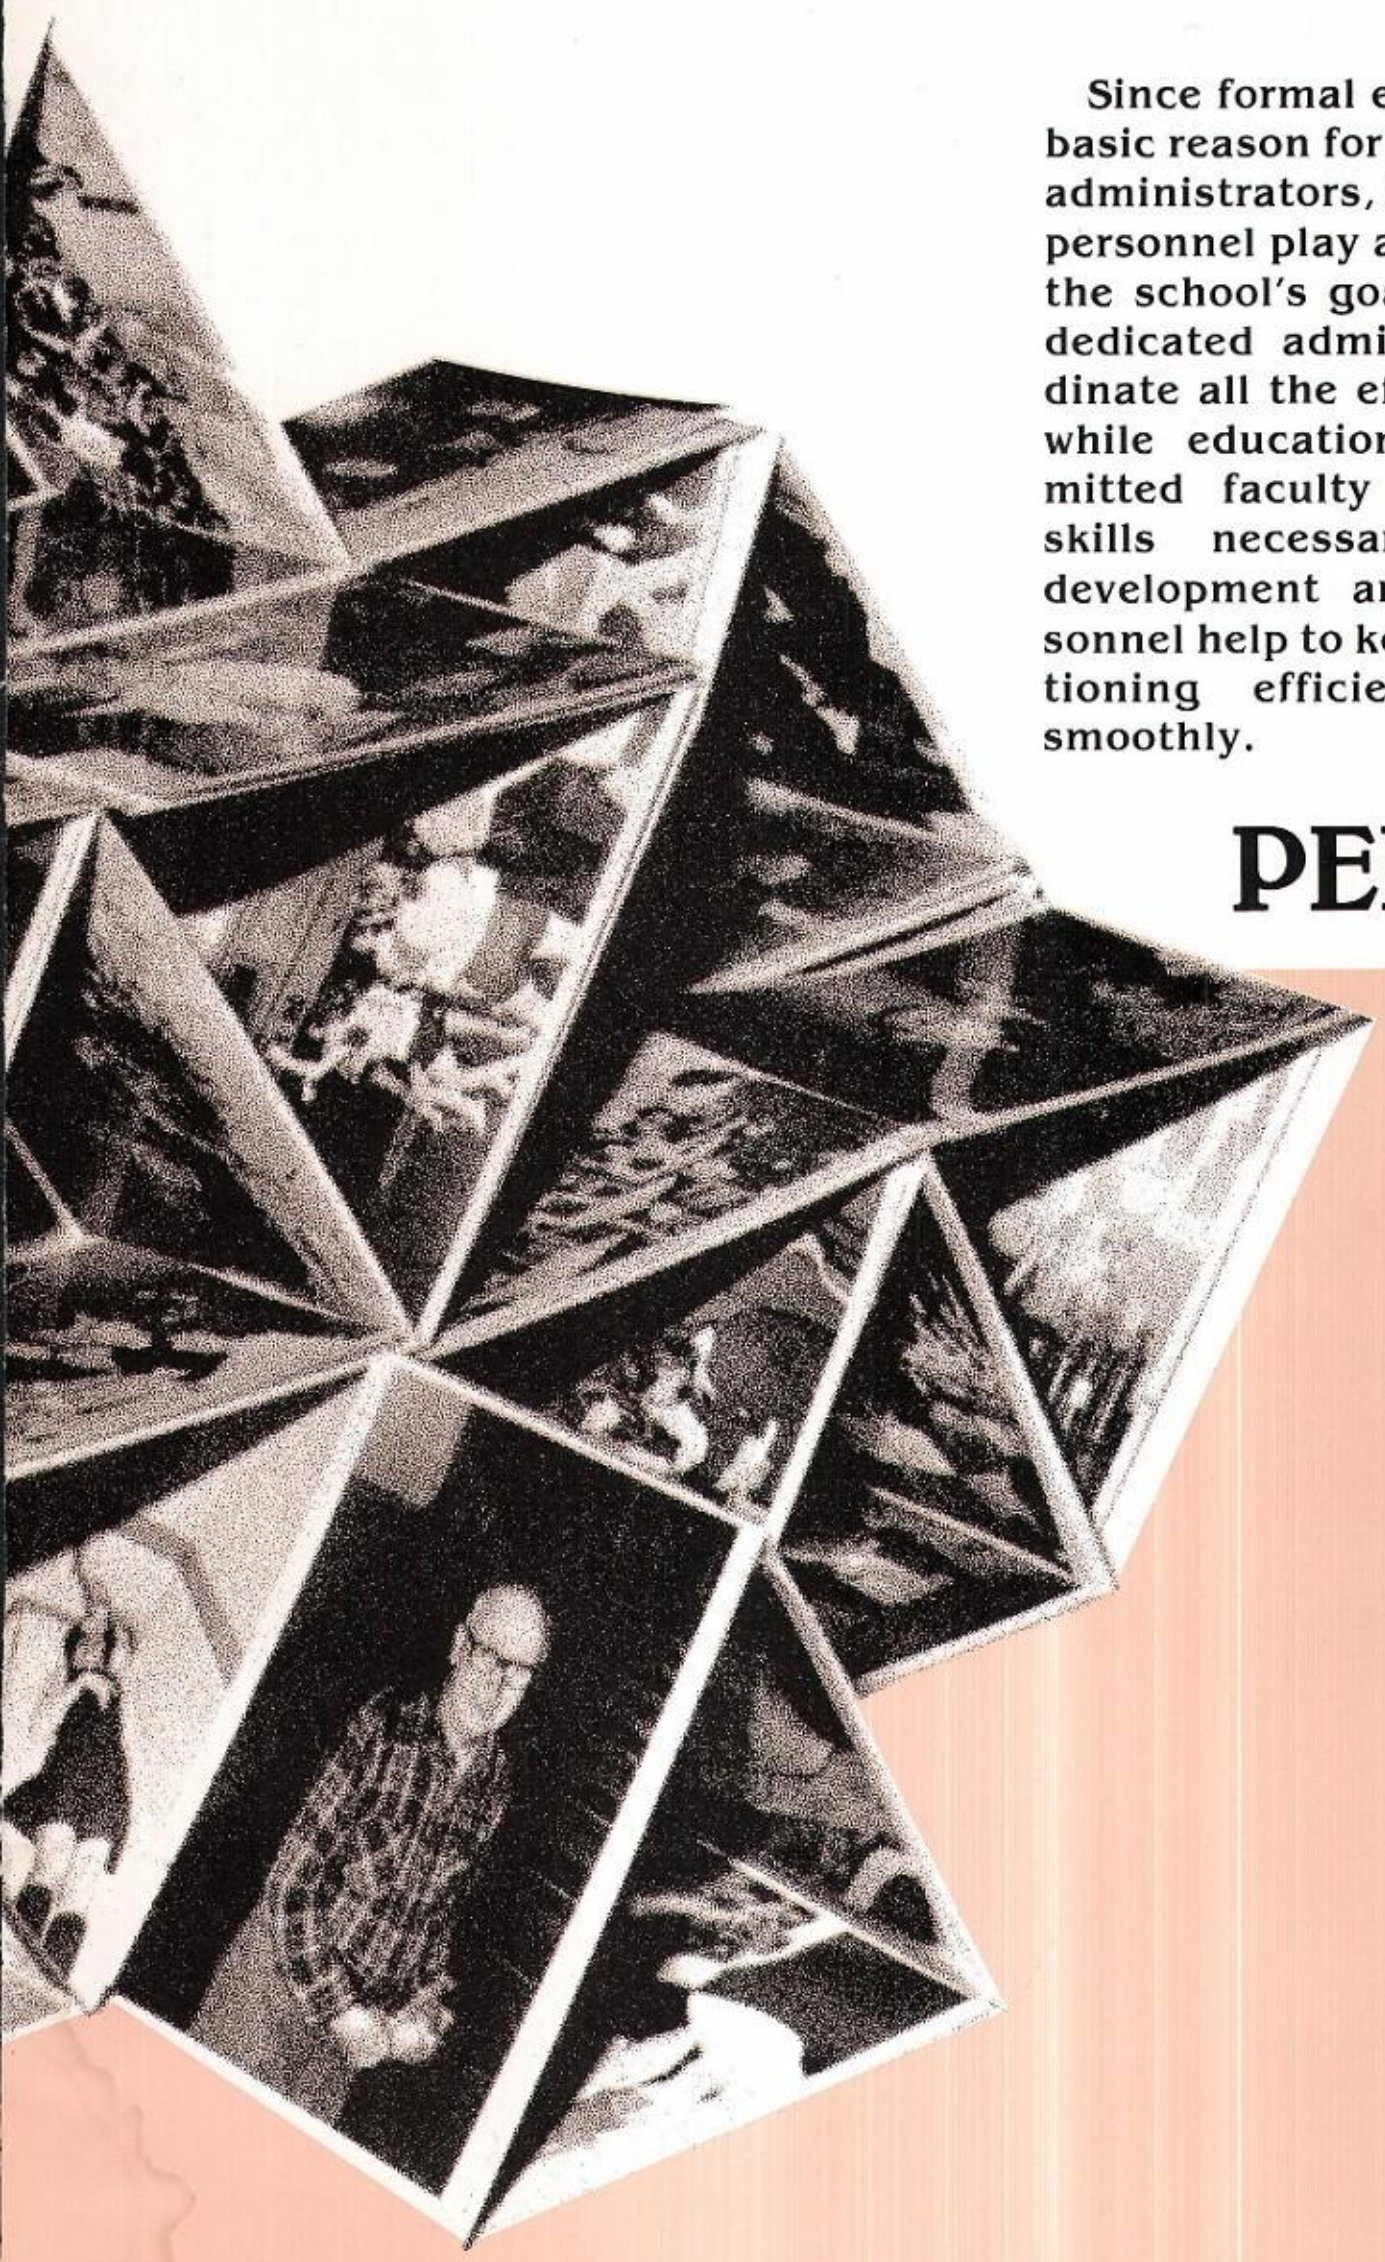


IT'S HOW WE MAKE EACH PIECE SUPPORT ALL



Each person experiences the happiness of pride, togetherness and fun as well as the supportiveness in times of frustration and disappointment. Finally, the diversity so characteristic of the Hallahan family, enriches all by its variety of cultures, customs, backgrounds and beliefs.

THE OTHERS THAT MAKES US WHAT WE ARE



Since formal education is an important basic reason for Hallahan's existence, the administrators, faculty and other support personnel play a valuable role in meeting the school's goals and objectives. While dedicated administrators work to coordinate all the efforts to provide a worthwhile education, a talented and committed faculty shares knowledge and skills necessary to each student's development and progress. Other personnel help to keep the school plant functioning efficiently, attractively and smoothly.

PERSONNEL

Spiritual Support

The spiritual support that everyone receives at Hallahan begins with the leadership of Cardinal Krol and Msgr. Curran, then develops through the school chaplains. From the offices of the Cardinal and the Vicar of Education come the planning, organization and development which direct the course of Catholic Education in the Archdiocese. Close to home, the Chaplains are always available to guide and help the Hallahan family through retreats, prayer, liturgies and personal development.

Making the Pieces Fit

The administration and faculty make an outstanding contribution by providing the student body with well-balanced programs in academics, activities, guidance, and personal growth. Through such programs students develop the knowledge and skills which are necessary to succeed in the future. Working together, the administration and faculty create an atmosphere for learning, for individual attention, for developing maturity and significant friendships. Through their guidance and support, the pieces which set Hallahan apart from all others are linked together.

Behind the Scenes

Each day many important services are performed by office, maintenance, and cafeteria personnel. While office personnel take care of various business aspects of Hallahan, the maintenance crew tries to keep the school clean and in good condition. At the same time, the cafeteria personnel is busily preparing a variety of foods from milkshakes to french fries, from fruit punch to salads in order to energize us for the day. All these services, though behind the scenes, are essential to the functioning of the school.

Education, the primary reason for the school, provides a basis for further education, the working world, and life. A variety of courses from home economics to physics, tracked according to student need and ability, enables students to fulfill requirements and to make choices according to preferences and future plans. With a quality education in mind, the faculty not only teaches but also provides additional learning experiences through clubs, activities and field trips to reinforce classroom learning. An important aspect of Hallahan's education is its focus on Religion in learning and in environment. This focus helps Hallahan to provide a well-rounded and quality education.

ACADEMICS

Growing with God

Courses in religion bring to the students a more mature and thorough understanding of what it means to be a Christian as well as offering each student a greater opportunity to fulfill her needs. Teachers have a well-planned and flexible curriculum for the students and the opportunity to pursue specific areas of each topic to best meet the requirements of individual classes. Important issues such as abortion, use of drugs and alcohol are treated through classroom discussions, seminars, and the presentations of guest speakers. Important events sponsored by the department include retreats, liturgies, prayer services and Vocation Days. Vocation Days are an annual event sponsored by the Religion Department.

An Eye for Business

Hallahan's Business Department provides young women with the necessary skills to be successful in office surroundings. Offerings include: Accounting, Clerical Office Practice, General Business, Stenography, Secretarial-Transcription, Typing and Recordkeeping. Personal typing is taught to college-bound seniors in addition to business-oriented underclasswomen. The Work-Study program enables students to fulfill graduation requirements early so that by senior year much of the day is spent in on-the-job experience. Hallahan girls have earned a well-deserved reputation for outstanding work in the business world.

Sharpening Important Skills

Reading skills are fundamental to all learning and to future career choices. Courses in reading are designed to improve reading ability, study habits and build new skills. Self-confidence is the reward of those students who develop this important area of communication, as they work under the direction of qualified and dedicated specialists.

Sue Krenski shrieks "I can't believe Mrs. Lochhead is making us do this!", as her fellow Biology II students begin dissecting a mink.

Tamara Milburn and Lorraine McLaren examine pork from another angle.

Exploring the Unknown

Science focuses on the knowledge of facts, phenomena, laws and proximate causes. The study of the natural sciences at Hallahan includes courses in physical science, biology, chemistry and physics which are geared not only to fulfilling the requirements for each student but are also geared to be realistic in view of the students' abilities. Emphasis is placed on developing skills in using the scientific method, experimentation, critical reasoning, investigation and group work. Above-average students or those with a special interest may pursue more advanced courses in chemistry and physics.

Freshmen enjoy the advantage of having hands-on training with a computer.

Calculated to Succeed

Mathematics aims to develop the mathematical skills needed by the students for their lives after graduation by reinforcing all basic skills and offering possibilities for more advanced work for those whose future plans may require additional knowledge. Courses include: Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Pre-Calculus and Analytic Geometry. The Computer Room, under the supervision of the mathematics departments, provides opportunity for training in the use of computers for a variety of programs. As many as thirty students at a time can work comfortably in the center.

Preparation for Home Work

Home Economics prepares students to understand foods and nutrition, child development, consumer buying, housing, furnishings and equipment, textiles and clothing. Development in these areas leads to love and joy in home and family life and provides a basis for careers in various fields for the future.

These customers will be always right.

The Shape of Things to Come

Physical Education courses are designed to meet the physical and recreational needs of youth. The program, planned and adapted to meet individual needs, provides opportunities for students to participate in physical activities as well as in sports. Activities help to develop leadership qualities and self-confidence and to have a carry over value for later use.

I need a strike to win.

"Ready, girls, and push up, but push up every morning, not just now and then."

Words, Words, Words,

The study of English is designed to enrich and widen the student's knowledge and appreciation of literature through the reading of major authors and various types of literature. Communication skills of writing and speaking are also developed, while basics of grammar, correct usage, punctuation and spelling are covered in each year. Students with special needs to improve, review or strengthen their work may request or be assigned to extra time in the English Resource Center.

More Mots, Palabras, Verba

Foreign languages are taught to broaden the student's total education, not only by learning the language itself, but also the cultures of other people. Various activities help to reinforce classroom knowledge. Field trips, for example, are taken to foreign language plays and concerts. Students also take part in National Foreign Language Week, when many types of French and Spanish food are prepared and sold during lunch periods in the gym. Each year plays are performed in a foreign language and all those interested may choose these enjoyable performances.

Executioner Anne Marie Flynn shows her real feelings toward Mary Harris, while the rest of the French IV class cheers her on.

Measuring Up

Being involved in the Music Department enhances the student's appreciation of music through the instrument she learns to play. The girls are taught how to associate with the sounds of various other instruments, and at the same time they are taught to harmonize beautifully together. The members also develop the ability to perform in an orchestra and broaden their understanding of classical as well as popular music.

Some of the activities the orchestra is involved in are liturgies, playing at hospitals and on special occasions. Annual concerts are performed at Christmas and in the spring. Every year, the alumnae sponsors a concert at Convention Hall in Cape May and the students involved enjoy a pleasant day. A music appreciation class for Freshmen is a new offering of the department this year.

Music flows throughout the auditorium as senior Kathy McIntyre plays her harp out for teacher, Mrs. Pasquarella.

Senior violinists, Maryellen Cahill, Myra Nyz, and Anna Gallagher practice intently for the upcoming concert.

The little known, but well-used, music house provides refuge for practicing musicians.

Freshmen enjoy one of their quarterly courses, music appreciation, by drumming to the beat of Michael Jackson.

Creating Color

Art develops the student's natural ability to dream, imagine and create through the use of paints, charcoal, pottery and pastels. Evidences of this talent and hard work decorate the corridors through the year, bringing admiration and enjoyment to all who pass by. Accomplishments are also recognized and honored at the annual Hallahan Art Exhibit, as well as at the Scholastic Art Contest, the Immaculata Art Festival and the Cabrini Art Festival. This year a field trip to the art museum in New York was taken to broaden the students' knowledge and appreciation of great works of art.

Working from a live model, Monica Morris, senior art students improve their skills at figure drawing.

The Course of Civilization

All students are required to earn three credits in social studies in the areas of western civilization and American studies to be eligible for graduation. In addition to World Studies, electives in United States History, Economics, American Social Problems, American Political Behavior, American Women and the U.S. in the Twentieth Century are available to interested students. Attendance at various political seminars gives added background on the functioning of government. Students are prepared to become informed and involved citizens of their world.

reshmen look through the card catalogue to find a mind-boggling ook to read.

Girls search the encyclopedias to explore the unknown.

nto the paper goes the knowledge that students have researched in the library.

The Search for Knowledge

The library provides a supplemental classroom situation where formal and informal learning can be pursued. In addition to numerous books, magazines and newspapers, students are exposed to a variety of other materials such as microfiche readers, filmstrip viewers, cassette players and computers. Recreational reading is encouraged, and library aides are available for help in finding and selecting materials. An Apple computer has been added to be used for circulation, inventory, overdues and notices.

Extra-curricular activities form an important part of life at Hallahan. They provide students with the opportunity to develop skills and talents, discover new interests and make more friends. Many activities are service-oriented, giving assistance within and ouside the school. Others are designed to help students increase knowledge in areas they are studying. Student initiative and leadership are developed, too, in each activity, benefitting not only the student personally but also the spirit and growth of Hallahan. With a wide choice of activities, every girl should be able to become part of this special area of student life.

ACTIVITIES

After three years of experience, the Seniors get started on their annual task of selling candy.

In return for answers to his "trivial" questions, the Candy man gives away some tempting bars.

Student Council members help distribute candy to their classmates.

How Sweet It Is

"It's Candy Day once again!" announces Sister Elizabeth Ann in her own special way. After a motivating talk by the Candy man, students eagerly set out hoping to reach their quota. In return for much time and effort, each girl is rewarded for her hard work with a holiday and the knowledge that the selling of bars to family and friends contributes financial support to the school and brings an extra touch of sweetness to the City of Brotherly Love.

Diane Perrone and Sister Ida Marie stock up in an attempt to become high salespersons.

There's always so much catching up to do at the Communion Brunch.

After an impressive liturgy at the Cathedral, the alumnae enjoy brunch at the Bellevue.

The Long Blue Line

Of all the schools in the Archdiocese, none can boast of a more supportive alumnae than Hallahan. Year after year this "long blue line" of Hallahanites remains loyal to and interested in all the activities of its alma mater.

Four times a year the alumnae publishes The Silver Echo to keep members in touch with one another and with news of their favorite school. Other events include: the Communion Brunch in October, a Day of Recollection at the school on the first Sunday of Lent, a luncheon-fashion show in the spring, and a presentation of the Spring Musicale at Cape May. Class reunions each year may stretch from 1919 to the class of 1980.

Besides the personal interest in and love for all that is Hallahan, alumnae members express their commitment in ways that are very specific. The beauty of the chapel and the newly-redecorated auditorium are examples of financial support as are donations to the Guidance Center for career materials and to the Discipline Department for carfare and lunch money for some needy students. Tuition costs also are paid for some students by the alumnae.

Such a strong line of loyalty and devotion is a credit to the continuing spirit of Hallahan, a spirit that is "in the walls" but also outside the walls.

Seated at the speaker's table are Sister Mary Jean, Alumnae president Alice L. Brinnisholtz and Sister Kathleen Schneider, R.S.M., guest speaker.

Former classmates seem to have many pleasant moments of sharing.

Newly installed student leaders mingle with friends and parents after the ceremonies.

Sister Mary Jean speaks of the responsibilities which lie ahead for the school leaders.

Blue Ribbon Achievers

The theme for the Student Council '84-'85 is "If you can believe it, you can achieve it; if you can achieve it, you can become it." With this spirit the Student Council achieves its goal of service to the school through various committees. Some committees plan assemblies, recruit from feeder schools, take the responsibilities of daily prayer, and other worthwhile services. Accepting these responsibilities, the council girls help the school to function smoothly.

Traditionally, the senior class attends the installation of Student Council members.

Parents and council members gather for refreshments in the student council room.

The procession was the first step toward a very moving Ring Ceremony.

Sister Mary Jean, principal, Donna Moy, president, and Father Trader, chaplain, witness the blessing of the rings by Father Durante.

Happiness and friendship, as well as tradition and pride, are reflected on the faces of these seniors.

Symbol of Unity and Friendship

One special celebration that every senior looks forward to each year is Ring Day at the Cathedral. It follows the great Hallahan tradition that has been handed down through the years. On that day there is much excitement and unity among the soon-to-be graduates before, during, and after the ceremony. A highlight of the event is the blessing of the rings, which are then distributed to each girl. After distribution, seniors turn the rings on one another's fingers strengthening ties of friendship. Before meeting family guests, girls embrace one another with happy tears.

Debbie Jacobs and Evelyn Lozada carry the offertory gifts in the name of the class of 1985.

A time-honored tradition of turning rings is carried out by Denice Anderson and Sandra Alvarado.

Sand Script Upholds Hallahan Tradition

One of Hallahan's prized publications is the newspaper Sand Script. The newspaper is published four times a year and keeps an up to date account of persons, places and events. Reporters can be found throughout the halls, interviewing students and faculty, getting all the "scoops", They're always on the go and ready for the next story to break. Students involved with Sand Script spend many hours planning, writing and going over rough drafts, but the end result is always worth the work.

After a lot of hard work, Lisa Pfleger and Lynne Campbell can finally smile.

Every Second Sizzles

Each year the traditional, spirit-filled Hallahan Day begins with an exchange of taffies and corsages to be worn on uniforms, but the highlight of the day is the show the seniors put on. It is meant as an official welcome for the freshmen; however, the entire student body enjoys the performance. The presentation this year, based on "Motown," included songs and humorous skits with references to school rules, teachers and classes. After the show, freshmen customarily return to their grade school and share their accumulated taffies with the younger children. Each underclass girl looks forward to the day when she will be part of the Hallahan Day Show.

Freshmen assemble to enjoy the Hallahan Day Show, their official welcome to school.

During the traditional finale of the show, a reminder of the graduation to come chills each student.

Staff of the Year

One thing for sure that this year's Silver Sands Staff realizes is the tremendous amount of work that goes into a yearbook. A staff member can be found in the yearbook room before school, during homeroom, lunch, study and after school. Each girl takes responsibility for pages for each deadline, of which there are three. Included in this work are planning pictures, accompanying the photographer, choosing pictures, writing captions, headlines and copy, and finishing layouts. Even though so much work is involved, each member does as much as she can to make the 1985 Silver Sands the best ever.

The yearbook staff loves to keep together.

Service with a Smile from Homeroom Representatives

Being a homeroom representative involves much responsibility. Their jobs include assisting the homeroom moderator, checking the roll, informing the homeroom of activities, and distributing and collecting materials necessary for other departments in the school. It is an honor to be elected as a homeroom representative because it shows that students see them as responsible and dependable. By agreeing to take this position, they commit themselves to do whatever is helpful in their homeroom. One of the main purposes for having homeroom representatives is so that the class members can actively participate in school activities.

from Mission Representatives

The mission representatives help to support Hallahan's outreach to the poor and disadvantaged of our country and other countries. Each representative inspires her class to contribute whatever they can to ease the lives of the unfortunate. The mission money is collected weekly in each homeroom, but there are also special collections througout the year. For example, the Thanksgiving collection enables the school to buy turkeys for needy families. The mission representatives are the symbol of love and generosity in Hallahan. Together with Sister Ida Marie, their moderator, they work to do whatever possible to help people in different areas of the world.

from Activities

Representatives

Each homeroom elects an activities representative to act as liaison between the homeroom and the Activities Office. Valuable contributions of service are made by these girls whose responsibility it is to collect the tuition, graduation fees, and activities fees from the students and keep the financial records straight in the homerooms. With a spirit of enthusiasm and commitment, they encourage the girls to participate in activities such as the Candy, Magazine, and Yearbook Drives.

from Guidance Representatives

The guidance representatives keep us in touch with the services of the Guidance Office. They are responsible for preparing a guidance program for their homerooms at least once a month. They also consult homeroom moderators as to whether or not they would like a speaker on a special topic. When the speaker arrives, the guidance representative accompanies and introduces the speaker.

Leadership through Speech

Forensics includes various types of speech: Persuasive, Informative, and Dramatic Interpretation. The Forensics Club is also called a Student Congress. Being in the Student Congress enables a member to speak intelligently and freely about social issues. The stu dents of Hallahan compete with twenty-six other schools in the Philadelphia Catholic League, and they really enjoy getting involved in their activity as well as developing speaking abilities. They devote many after school hours and Saturdays to practice in order to better their "leadership through speech."

Miss Volpack helps Tamara Feszczak organize her ballad.

The Forensics Club includes: Stephanie Burrage, Bridgette Emily, Pam Bernardino, Tamara Feszczak, Jocelyn Bruce and Maria Kilpatrick.

Bridgette, Maria and Jocelyn admire an award certificate.

Tamara, with much expression, delivers her original oration.

World Class Performers

Each year the combined efforts of the orchestra and glee club fill the hearts of others with much happiness. Being a member of Hallahan's orchestra brings much pride to the girl who is involved, and it helps her to have a better understanding of both classical and popular music. On the other hand, a glee club member is able to portray her feelings through singing. The annual Christmas and spring concerts have been a great joy and inspiration to those who attend. Thanks to the skillful instruction of Sister Mary William, S.S.J. and Sister Leda Reeves, S.S.J., the orchestra and the glee club are a great success.

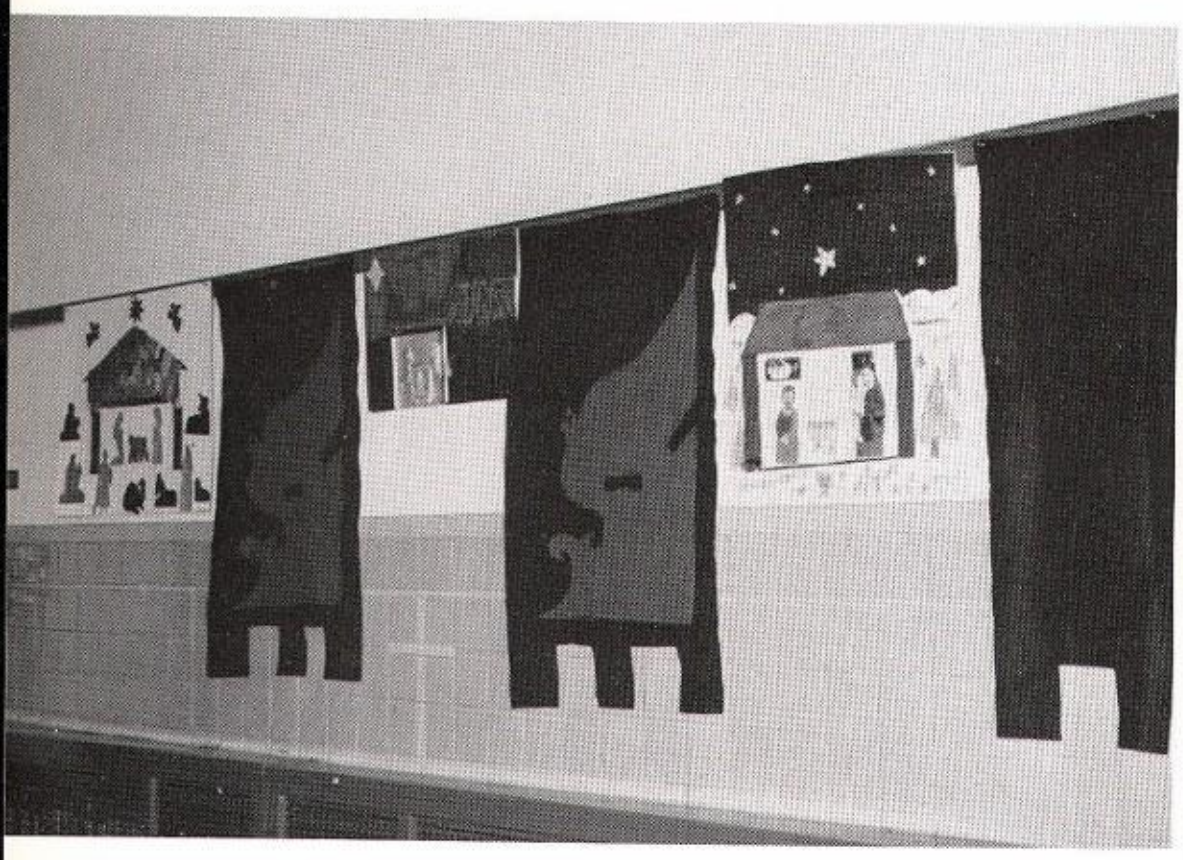
The Christmas Spirit Is Everywhere at Hallahan

A very special time of the year at Hallahan is Christmas. As the holiday approaches, the spirit spreads throughout the school as traditional decorations of lights and art work are displayed in the hallways. French carolers add to the joy as the echo of French christmas carols fills the halls. One event that every student looks forward to during this time is the Christmas Concert. The Orchestra and Glee Club work very hard to put together a performance sure to be enjoyed by all audiences. But, it is the Christmas Mass, celebrated at the Cathedral, that enables the students to share the Christmas spirit in prayer as a family. It is a concelebrated Mass with the Liturgy prepared by the Liturgy Club and the music supplied by the orchestra. At the end of the Mass, the traditional live tableau is portrayed on the altar as a reminder to us of the true meaning of Christmas.

During the Christmas concert, the Glee Club entertains the audience with carols.

What Christmas concert would be complete without Santa and Frosty?



The Art students decorate the halls with Nativity scenes to spread Christmas spirit.

Congratulations to Sister Rose Christine and her homeroom, 8B, for placing first in the door-decoration contest.

As the finale performance ends, the live tableau portrays the real importance of Christmas.

The shrine on the first floor of Hallahan displays the Nativity scene.

The senior class walks over to the Cathedral to celebrate their last Christmas Mass together.

Top: One highlight of the school year is the gathering of the students in the Cathedral to celebrate their Christmas spirit in prayer.

Father Waters, Father Lewandowski, Father Durante and Father Trader co celebrate the Christmas Liturgy.

In the tableau, the Blessed Mother is portrayed by Pege Mota; Joseph, by Kim Brennan, and the angels are Kathy Waldenberger, Kathy McIntyre, and Lori Imperatore.

The three shepherds, Evelyn Lozada, Marcia Gomez and Terry Coleman, approach the tableau.

Miss Volpack distributes Holy Communion to the students.

Offering their gifts to the Baby Jesus are the three kings, Erin Cleveland, Liz Rambo and Kim Wilson.

I'll Be There

"Who am I going to take?" "What am I going to wear?" "Can we double with you?" These are a few questions a Hallahan Girl is plagued with at prom-time.

The long awaited day finally arrives. The nervously excited couple endures endless fuss and family pictures. With dots dancing before their eyes, they make a final check for tickets and directions. Reaching the prom they are greeted by faculty members and receive a prom memoir.

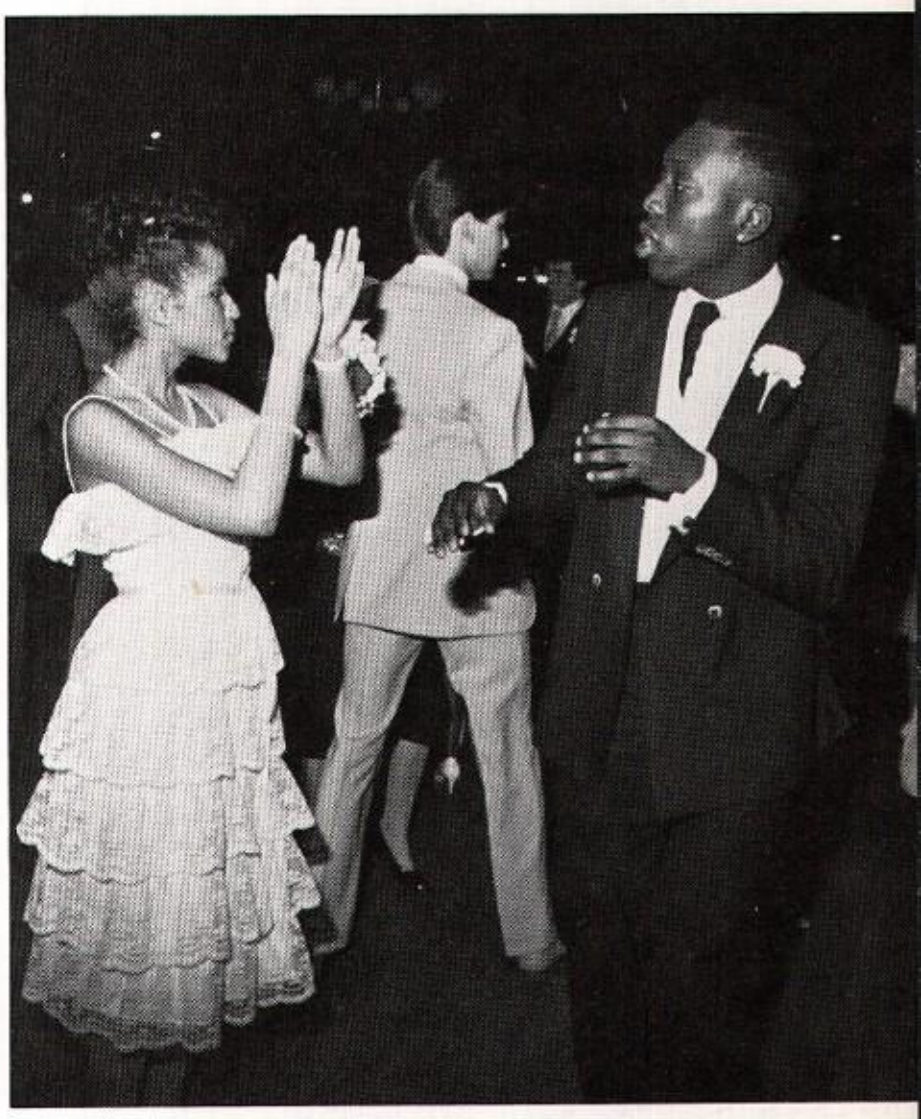
Highlights include dancing to music by Rich Powers, getting prom portraits taken, checking out the food, finding friends and just celebrating the evening with them. As "I'll Be There" played each girl stored in her heart fond memories of her Junior Prom.

Upon their arrival at the Golden Eagle, Cathy Owens and Matt Razler sign in for a night to remember.

Post pre-prom preparations, performed previously, provided pleasure for Bridget Hutt and escort, Michael Reilly.

Overcome with "prom fever," Hallahan sisters Terry Coleman and Erin Cleveland share their enthusiasms for the evening.

This circle of friends takes time out to smile for the photographer.



To get into the groove, Pege Mota and Billy Jones jam to the sounds of Michael Jackson.

With the prom coming to an end, Colleen Drum and Michael Hlywiak look forward to after-prom celebrations.

Jesus (Tom Graham) gives John the Baptist (Mark Johnson) a little lipstick . . . on the nose?

In March, Hallahan put on one of its biggest and best productions, Godspell. This play was a step up for Hallahan since it is a major production including difficult dance and music. Long hours of planning, memorizing and rehearsing resulted in an excellent performance under the guidance of Director Marianne Burg and Music Director David Wills. The production details were taken care of by Mr. del Vecchio and Miss Lombardi. Members of the Hallahan orchestra also contributed their talents to the show.

This year nine performances were presented including three Hallahan student matinees and two for the feeder schools, all of which were enjoyed in the comfort of the new auditorium. Students, parents and friends all agreed it was a show to remember.

"Day by Day", a popular song from the play, is sung by Tracy and Tom.

One of the highest honors awarded to a student at Hallahan is being selected a member of the Father Friel Chapter of the National Honor Society. Students selected exhibit qualities of Scholarship, Leadership, Character and Service, which, during a special ceremony, are acknowledged by the Principal, Sister Mary Jean, and moderator, Miss Patricia McCaffrey. Under her guidance, members offer services of tutoring, and are involved in school activities such as Catholic Schools Week and Student of the Month.

Serving the Community

Community Service Corps, or C.S.C., is an organization of high school students giving service to the community. This year C.S.C. has really expanded. Two programs were started this year and carried out by 140 new members. One program Golden Touch deals with the elderly at the nursing home at Logan Square East, and the other is Incentive which offers tutoring to grade school children. C.S.C. participated in Operation Santa Claus, giving toys to less fortunate children. C.S.C. also gives the member the opporunity to make new friends and have new experiences.

Helping Hands

Students belonging to the Liturgy Club help to plan school liturgies for special occasions such as Ring Day, Christmas and Baccalaureate. The club also assists at planning and running retreats for freshman during Holy Week and sophomores and juniors at Merion Station during the year. Father Durante directs all the activities.

Professionals Preparing

The Business Club is made up of senior business students who do some behind-the scenes typing jobs. These seniors type for the faculty, yearbook and newspaper and help everything get done more quickly and more efficiently.

Young Artists in Action

The major goal of the Art Club is to give art service to anyone who is in need of it. Members devote hours of their time in order to brighten up many activities. Some of their responsibilities include making decorations for the Hallahan Day Show and dances such as the Soph Hop and the Freshmen Frolic. Posters are made to fill the gym with Hallahan Spirit for sporting events. During Christmas the Art Club fills the halls with the joys of the season. During the annual Christmas Concert they transform the auditorium into a winter wonderland. Wherever artistic talent is needed at Hallahan, the Art Club can cater to that need.

Members of the Art Club work on decorations for the Hallahan Day Show.

Getting Right Answers

The students who belong to Mathletes represent Hallahan in competitive tests dealing with different areas of mathematics. The members compete within four diocesan division at meets which occur every three weeks for a written contest. Hallahan has done exceptionally well this year. Students in the program feel that Mathletes help strengthen their arithmetic abilities.

Sharing Skills

The main goal of the Student Library Aide Program is to teach students to become familiar with and assist in the daily library routines and generally keep the library in order. This helps to free the librarian to teach and to carry on other library business. Aides assist at the circulation desk, in shelving books, and help other students to find and use the materials in the library.

Senior Maria Gallagher has given outstanding service as library aide to our school.

A Touch of Culture

The purpose of the French and Spanish Clubs is to broaden the student's insight into and understanding of foreign culture. Their activities include field trips to foreign language plays or concerts and the French and Spanish cafes which are held in the gym one day during Foreign Language Week. The members of the clubs also put on foreign language plays for the students.

Spanish Club members plan future activities.

Candid Camera

The goal of the Photography Club is to create and increase the awareness of what may be captured through the lens of a camera. Students also learn the skills needed to use the camera with ease and to develop their pictures. The results of their work are exhibited in the cafeteria.

Standing: Bernice McLaughlin 6B, Mr. Hutchinson, moderator, Denice Harmer 4D, Eileen Campbell 2D, Debora Farrell 3b. Seated: Mary O'Donnell 7B, Elisa Karmerze 4B.

On the Beam

Students supplement their classroom science learning by joining the Science Club. Members have a keen interest in science and use activities in order to develop this interest. The Science Club goes on field trips to museums such as the Franklin Institute and the Academy of Natural Sciences. They also visited the Fox Chase Cancer Center. Labs are performed and films are reviewed to gain other insights into science.

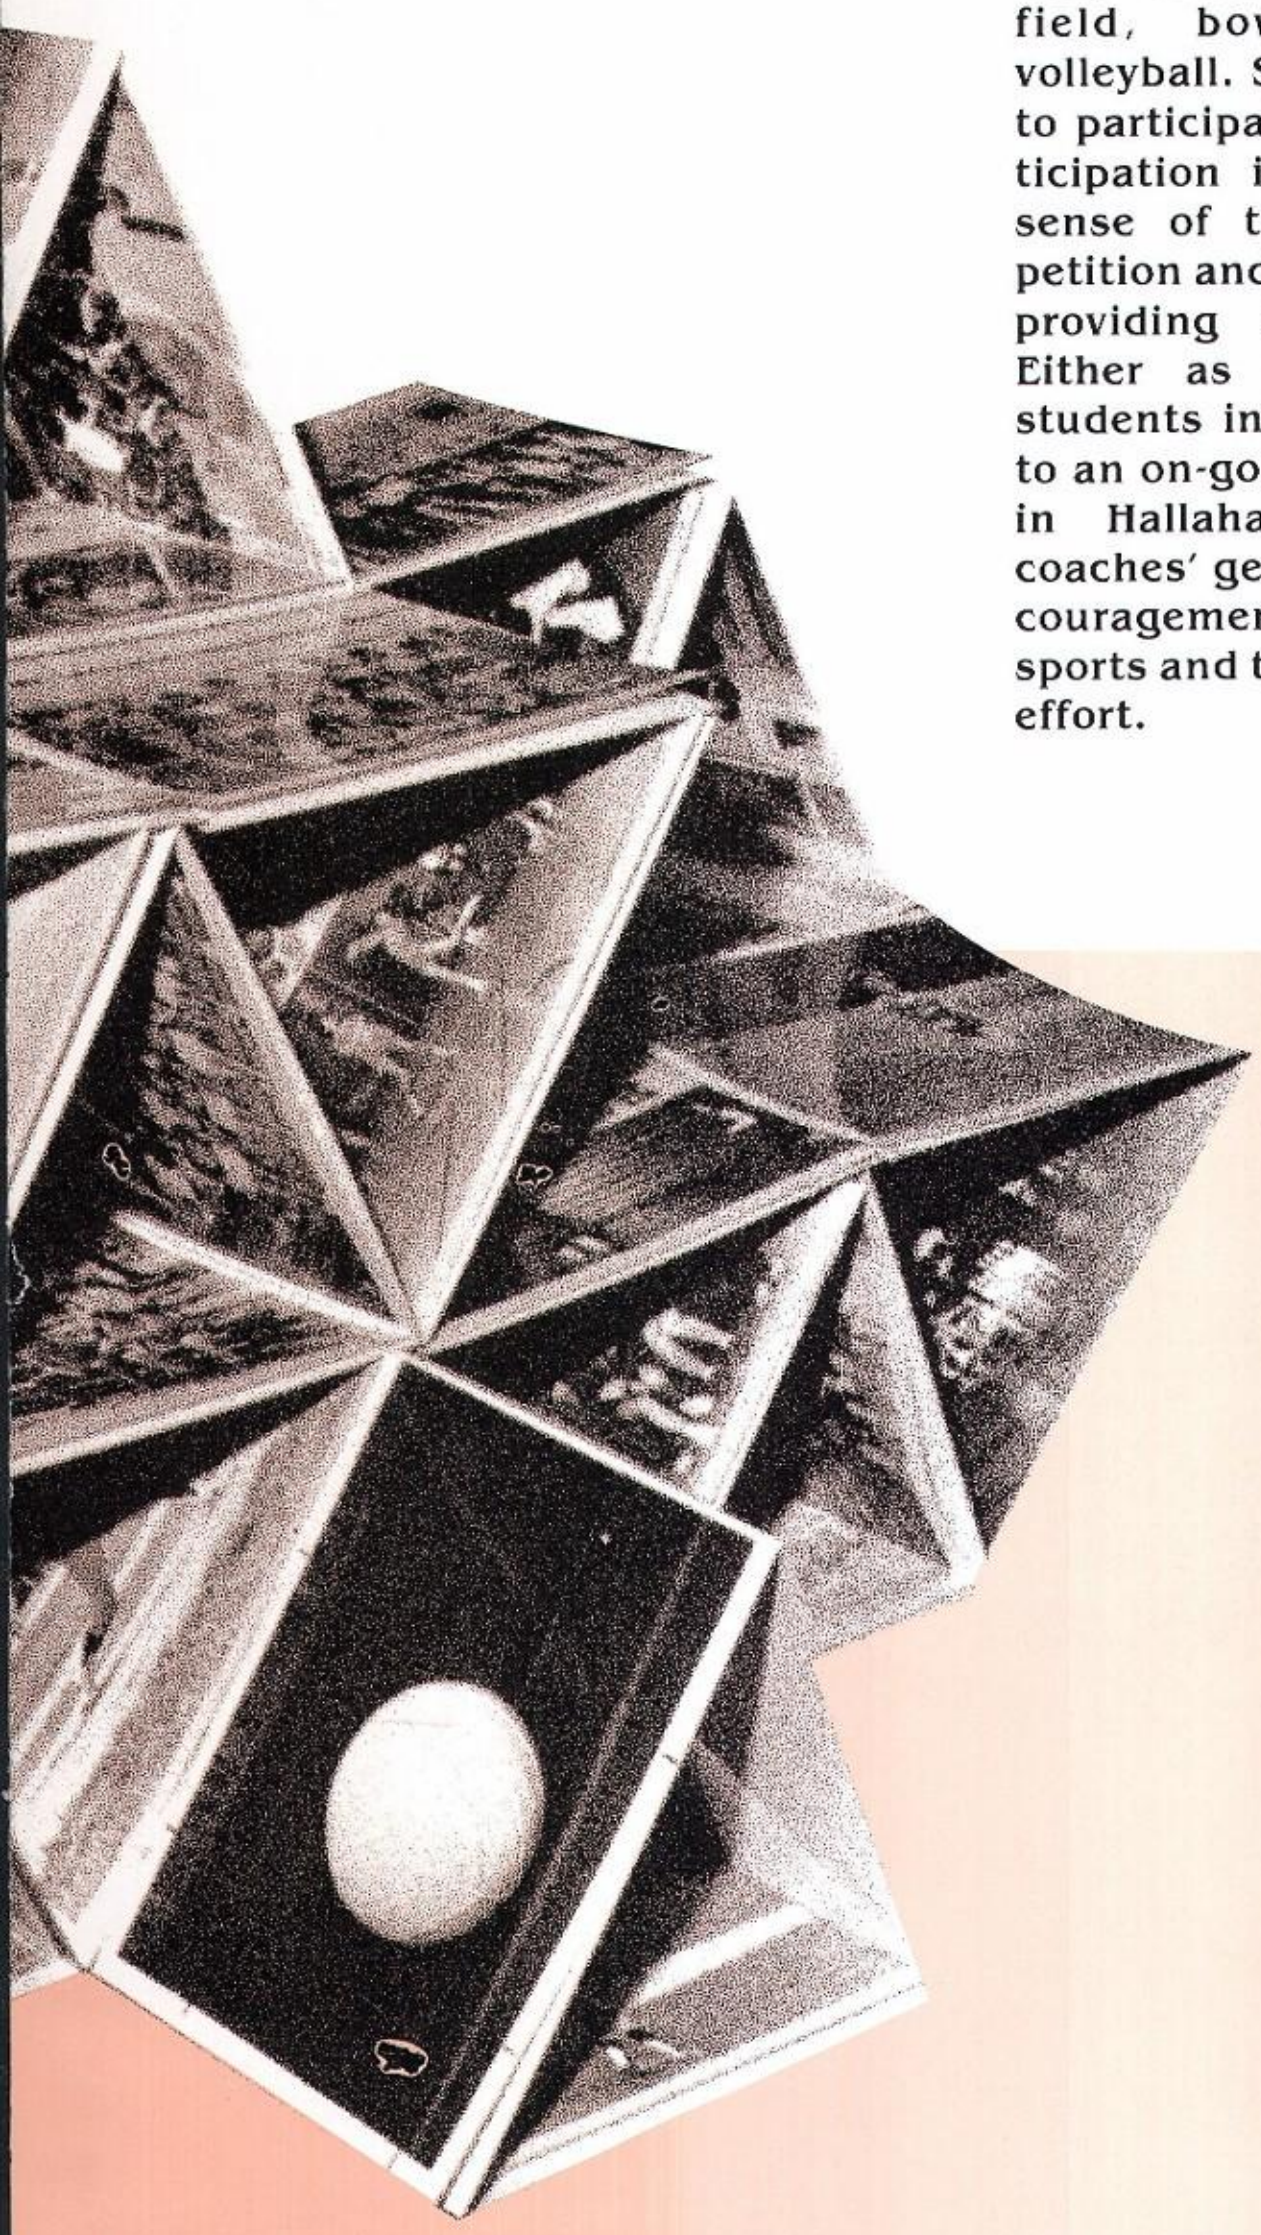
In the Spotlight

The main purpose of the Drama Club is to encourage students to become involved in all aspects of theater. They learn acting, publicity and other areas of stage work. This year's production, Godspell, ran in March. Selling ticket's, getting advertisements for the production's program and ushering were all part of the responsibilities taken on by Drama Club members.



Through a well-developed sports program, Hallahan offers basketball, softball, soccer, cross-country, track and field, bowling, cheerleading and volleyball. Students are also encouraged to participate in intra-mural events. Participation in sports develops a strong sense of team work, worthwhile competition and sportsmanship in addition to providing fun and healthy exercise. Either as participants or spectators, students interested in sports contribute to an on-going spirit and feeling of pride in Hallahan's accomplishments. The coaches' generous giving of time and encouragement teaches students to enjoy sports and to put forth a hundred-percent effort.

SPORTS

Finishing Strong

Hallahans cross country girls acquire speed, skill, determination, and endurance which set the pace for the team. Hallahan's team runs at Belmont Plateau where they compete against the other teams in the league. The team practices six days a week by running three to eight miles a day. This year the cross country team ended the fall season by finishing eleventh place in the championship game.

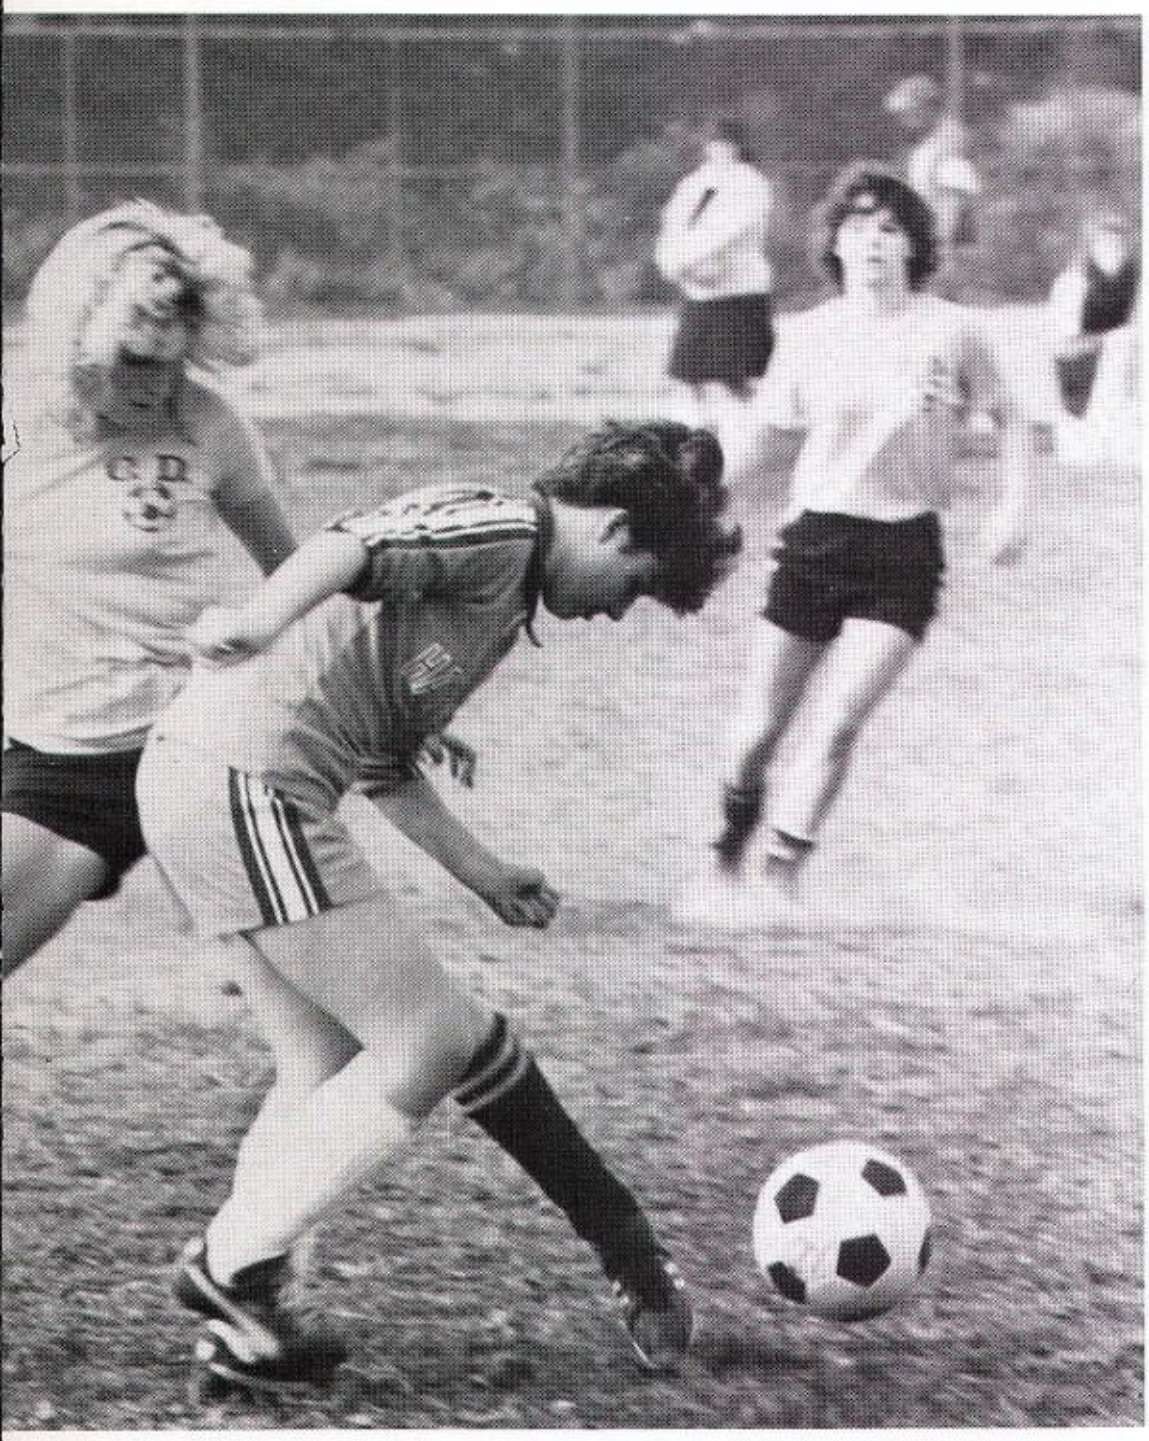
On the Ball

Goalie Barb Welsh plays great defense by keeping Cardinal Dougherty from scoring.



Nicole Sotos concentrates on kicking the ball, while being well covered by her opponent.

Soccer player Kelly McCarron kicks the ball towards the goal hopefully to score a point for Hallahan.

When it comes to kicking goals, the Hallahan soccer team doesn't give up easily. Under the direction of Coach Joe MacDonald, they practice for hours to learn how to move the ball to victory. They strive for balance, coordination and good judgment in a game in which footwork is a necessity, and arms and hands may not be used except by the goalie.

Dee Smith drives to the basket.

Playing to Win

At Hallahan, basketball is one of our biggest sports. We start off the year by having Inter-Class basketball; then, the season kicks off in January with a pep rally in the gym. This year there was a new face added to our team, Coach Mary Scharff. The new captains are Seniors Terry Coleman and Debbie Gratzinger. One thing that hasn't changed is the tough competition in the Southern Division with teams like Carroll, Goretti, Prendie, West Catholic, O'Hara, Wood and, of course, our big rival Little Flower.

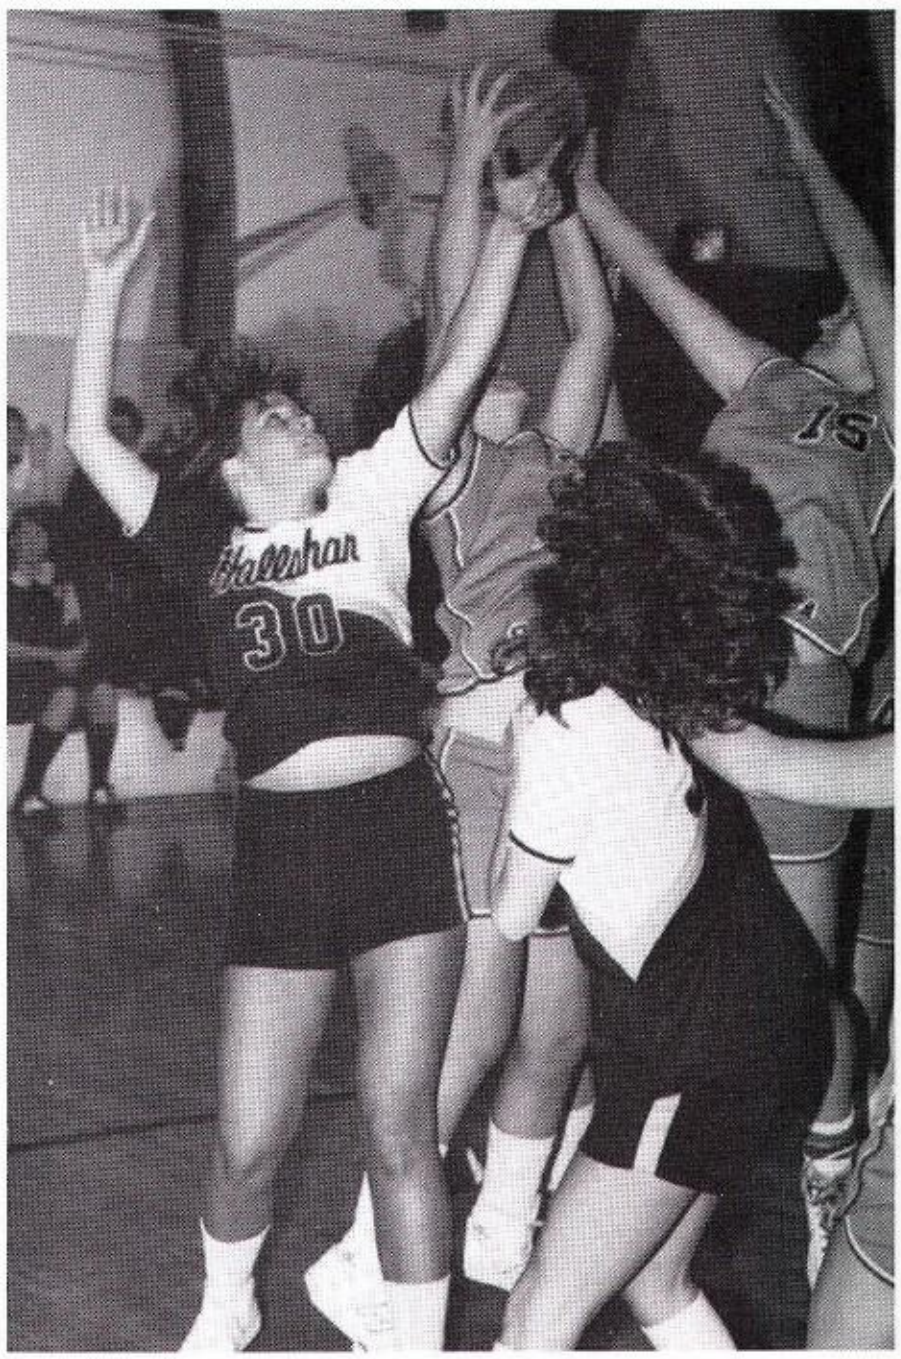
erry Coleman doesn't let anyone get in her way.



Liz Hession goes for it all.

Stars Outshine Giants

The All Stars Game is an annual sports event which always creates fun and spirit. The opposing teams are the courageous faculty members showing great sportsmanship in their struggle with the best of the student basketball players. Almost every year, the students win but Jolly Jean's Giants always put up a good, if sometimes unusual, fight. This year they lost by a score of 37-36 in the final seconds of an outstanding game.

You've Got What It Takes

Where would the basketball team be without Hallahan's cheerleaders? These high-spirited girls practice very hard to achieve togetherness, skill and drive. They help to create a school spirit in the crowd and lead the team into a victory. Clever routines, often performed at halftime, keep Hallahan fans proud.

Routines like this are a contributing factor in Hallahan's basketball games.

Striking Ladies

In the game of bowling, a team effort is the most important factor involved. One thing for sure about Hallahan's bowling team is that the members put their heart into it. Each girl always tries to help her teammate through every strike and spare. This year the team has been very successful in their matches, and their efforts have paid off in an outstanding season.

Ready, Set, Spike

Not only do you find Hallahan athletes outdoors in the spring, but you can also find the volleyball team in the gym. These girls work hard every day to perfect their bumps, sets and spikes. Ever since 1982, when the team became the Southern Division champs, the girls have been striving to maintain their image of excellence. With a coach like Tom Kane, the team always knows that they are in store for a fun season.

Softball Fever—Catch It

Hallahan's softball team can be described in two words: hard workers. The team can be found practicing every day at 22nd and the Parkway. This year the team took advantage of the warm weather in the fall and got a few weeks of practice. Coach John Miller, who had been with the team for ten years, does this to get the team organized so it saves valuable time in the spring. For the members of the softball team, spring time means time to get out in the sun and warm weather to close out the school year by participating in a sport they all love.

On the Right Track

There are indoor and outdoor track teams at Hallahan. Girls spend hours everyday practicing their running and jumping on staircases, through school corridors and outdoors. Team members develop physical fitness and a healthy spirit of competition. As a result of consistent training, students increase their skills and develop the necessary stamina to compete.

The Team Behind the Teams

The Athletic Association consists of forty girls whose major goal is to promote spirit throughout the school. Especially in athletic events, they try to support the girls involved in the sports program at Hallahan. Some ways in which they do this is by selling tickets for the events, making signs for class and school competitions, and initiating activities to heighten the Hallahan spirit among students, faculty members and friends.

Each year the returning underclasses bring life and vitality to the school. Although they are the seniors "to come", they must go through the underclass stages in order to reach that goal. Sometimes the newness, adjustments and learning experiences are hard and the growth is not appreciated. Also, each class has its own characteristics and personality and must uphold Hallahan's reputation while constantly building upon and strengthening it. In the process, loving and caring relationships grow; support and sharing can be observed among the classes. Each member is linked to the others by a common desire to be able one day to refer proudly to Hallahan as her Alma Mater.

How to Survive Once You Arrive

As the year began in September, 334 new members joined the Hallahan family. The first weeks of school for freshmen are filled with confusion as they struggle with the question of which bus to take, what route to follow to each class, and how to treat the inevitable blisters from the traditional Hallahan shoes! After the first few weeks of orientation, the daily routine becomes somewhat easier and there are many activities to anticipate, such as: Hallahan Day, Christmas with new friends, and the Freshmen Frolic. Soon the freshmen, accustomed to life at Hallahan, look forward to becoming a real and important part of the Hallahan community, and dream of things to come: becoming a sophomore, gym, jumping in the fountain.

"Well, it's uncola for sure," claims Sonia Berroa.

Second Time Around

Sophomores return to another school year with a feeling of officially belonging but are faced with many new challenges. Gym has now become a reality while geometry and biology bring much wonder and confusion to the "wise fools." Being off the bottom rung and experiencing a different style of retreat are the highlights of new experiences. In later years, students will remember it as a year of work, work, work. Yet, eventually the blue turns to yellow.

Journal-keeping absorbs the attention of Kim Peffley and Cindy Windfelder.

Next in Line

Junior year is full of anticipation and excitement, a time for maturing, not only in school, but also in relationships. Old friendships are renewed; new ones are formed. New activities also begin, starting with the PSAT in the fall and including ring measurements, senior portraits, and especially the Junior Prom. Juniors, now considered upperclasswomen, take on greater responsibilities. Many juniors have jobs after school, which often adds to their pressures but also gives them a sense of independence. In school, they assume the responsibility of electing school officers. They continue to make important decisions that will affect their last years at Hallahan and all the years that follow.

Becoming a senior is the final step for each Hallahan student, a dreamed-of accomplishment. It is a time also for making new decisions and remembering past experiences. It is a time to worry about college acceptances and getting a job, as well as looking forward to happy occasions and celebrations. Such memorable events as Ring Day, the Senior Prom, Baccalaureate and Graduation brighten the months. Seniors really appreciate their high school days now that the days are numbered. Each senior class leaves behind memories and changes without which the school would not grow; but they also take with them a new maturity, learning and friendships.

SENIORS

Congratulations

Distinguished Honors

Anna Marie Dalesandro

Anna Marie has maintained first honors for all four years.

"I am a graduate of St. John the Baptist Elementary School. My favorite subjects during high school have been math and French. At Hallahan, I have been a member of the National Honor Society, Sand Script, Mathletes, French Club, Liturgy Club, retreat aides, CSC, and the Volleyball and Soccer teams. I have also been an activities representative for two years. During my free time, I like to play sports, party and listen to music. After I graduate, I plan to study both marketing and finance, and I hope to become a corporate executive someday. Hallahan will always be remembered by me for its sense of spirit, tradition and the many friendships that I have made."
